Mandheling

The equator cuts through the center of Sumatra, the third largest island in Indonesia. Climate is tropical, but nights are cool in the highlands. Rivers meander through natural rainforests where colorful plants and animals abound.

This Mandheling (or Mandeling) coffee is grown near Padang, in west-central Sumatra, at altitudes of 2,500 to 5,000 feet. Full-bodied and rich, it has relatively low acidity and smooth flavor.
